J. W. Switzer, a former popular and well known steamboat clerk on Mississippi river boats, is now in charge of the house of Menken Bros., in the interest of the new purchasers, Mr.
ing.

Those who have complaints to make of improper property assessments, can have a hearing before the Board of Equalization, of which Mr. Josie W.
Page is Chairman, and which will hold forth at the courthouse throughout the present week.

An ordinance to inspect meats, fish and vegetables, at the rate of 50 cents per annum to be paid by each man in the business, then 25 cents every time an inspector finds tainted truck or fish, was laid over for future consideration by the municipal board at its meeting yesterday.

The bootblack ordinance is now a law and the shiners must have permission before they set up shop, then get a tab with a number on it. The next nuisance to engage the attention of the authorities should be an ordinance to suppress kite flying by the boys on the public highways.

The Board of Health here held a meeting yesterday, announced a desire to co-operate with the National Board to facilitate its administration of quarantine and river inspection similar to that in vogue the past two summers; asked the National Board to place inspecting officers on duty here, at New Orleans and elsewhere; tendered the National Board the use of the quarantine station at President's Island and adopted a quarantine ordinance to go into effect on the first of May.

In the way of amusements yesterday and last night was unusually active. The lecture drew 300 or more, the Humpty Dumpty party as many, the children's dancing party at the Art Loan exhibition fully an equal number, the rooms being crowded to excess and many turned off; the "Chicks" had a martial drill on the bluff and at their armory, which also drew a hundred or more, and the choir of the Cumberland Presbyterian church had a rehearsal for an entertainment to come off when their new organ arrives. There were other attractions, and all in all people could not complain of no where to go last night.

Hon. Jno. T. Fry was called on by a number of leading business men and other citizens yesterday at his hotel, where he explained at length, and in a very clever and well connected manner his great project of a ship canal across the peninsula of Florida. He has a number of valuable maps, charts, books, etc., with him, to which frequent reference is made. He is a large man mentally and physically, and is full of the subject. It is impossible to listen to him without being impressed by his earnestness and catching some of his enthusiasm. As to the feasibility of the scheme and the immense benefit it would be to the commerce of this country, and especially to the people of the entire Mississippi valley, there can be no doubt.

NEW OWNERS.
Menken Bros. Stock and Assets Sold to Louis Stix.

This forenoon the keys and other paraphernalia of authority, including assets of every kind, of the house of Menken Bros. was turned over by Assignee R. J. Black to Mr. Louis Stix, of Stix, Krouse & Co., Cincinnati, that gentleman having purchased the same for $134,595.37, he having given a certified check for the amount on the First National Bank of this city on yesterday.

The purchase of Mr. Stix includes the stock on hand in the store, worth perhaps $25,000; the unexpired lease, the bills receivable and the assets of the late firm of Menken Bros. of every kind.

No complete schedule of the assets or liabilities of the late firm has yet been made public, though an approximate statement is to the effect that the purchase money above noted is sixty-seven per cent of the actual face value of the assets, and the same per centage of the value of goods on hand.

The sale was the result of sealed bids made to the Chancery Court, which upon being opened were found to be from H. C. Claffin & Co., New York, 53 per cent, B. Lowenstein & Bro., 60 per cent, Louis Stix, 62 per cent. Afterwards Mr. Lowenstein was permitted to advance his bid, when he went up to 67 per cent, and Mr. Stix having originally been higher than the rest, was given the preference at the advanced figure offered by Mr. Lowenstein, and he became the purchaser at the price stated.

Since the assignment was made some ten or twelve thousand dollars of bills receivable have been collected, and twice that amount of goods have been disposed of at the store, thus making the cash receipts in the neighborhood of $170,000, all of which, after expenses have been deducted, will be applied to liquidate the liabilities of the late firm. A rough estimate is that the creditors will receive from 30 to 35 per cent upon the face of the claims.

It is understood that the purchaser will set the Menkens upon their feet again as soon as a legal settlement can be made and the proper arrangements with the creditors are closed. The New York house of H. B. Claffin & Co. are the largest creditors, and it is stated they are earnest and devoted friends of the Menkens, and will aid Mr. Stix in his efforts to again place the firm on a solid business footing.

Mr. Stix has been in the city for several days past, examining the affairs of the late firm, and his purchase is the result.

The municipal managers, finding the feature of the business, and now order everybody to have a garbage box constructed, at a cost of from 50 cents to $5, as they may see fit, to be painted in stripes or pictures, with a close top over it, and to hold from a bushel to a bushel and a half. This box is only to hold dry garbage, and the public carts will haul it off at regular intervals. Any violation of, or interference with, this system will lay the offender

One Hundred Days.
A great, strapping loafer named N.
F. Looey was brought before the court to-day at the instance of his family, to whom he has become an unbearable nuisance. He has spent most of his worthless life about saloons and gambling houses, beating boardinghousekeepers for his meals and bar-keepers for his drinks. Lately he has assumed a few lordly airs, and is inclined to act some notoriety as a prize fighter.

Failing to extort money from his family, he has taken to writing libelous blackmailing letters, which was a little more than they could stand. He was sent to the island for one hundred days.

at the stationhouse, after a considerable struggle, where they all gave assumed names, and laid in the station-house, fine feathers and all, until trial to-day, when they were fined five

The Rainfall.
Not a drop of rain fell anywhere in the South yesterday or last night. The rainfall for the week ending last Friday at this port was 0.44 inches; at Nashville, 0.35; at Chattanooga, 0.23; and at Knoxville, 0.31. The average for Tennessee being 0.31 inches. The week's rainfall in the west gulf States is set down at 0.26; in the east gulf States at 0.35, while only a sprinkle fell over the Atlantic States region. It was a fine week for plowing all over the South except in the submerged districts.

The Late President Garfield.
The Towpath Club, at its last regular meeting, unanimously adopted the following preamble and resolution:

Whereas, The recent publication of a letter attributed to General James A.
Garfield and said to have been written by him in July, 1873, has been made the occasion for severe and bitter criticism upon his character and conduct, wholly at variance with the universal expressions of respect and admiration with which his late untimely death was lamented, and Whereas, We find in the said letter nothing to warrant the slightest criticism upon the fidelity, integrity or honor of the palliant Garfield, but much to increase our appreciation of his lofty patriotism, his devotion to his country and his fine talent as a man of affairs, and fresh reason for regret and sorrow that he was so early lost from the national councils; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Towpath Club of Memphis, that we denounce the late attacks upon the memory of President Garfield as unwarranted, incenseable and unworthy the serious attention of any American citizen, and we rejoice that this latest effort to defame his character and to steal from him his well won laurels, has so signally failed.
